Strong kids, strong communities

Teacher Dana asked his students: »How did you like the lesson with the teachers from Jiyan Foundation?«

Lara: »It was very good, because we learned how to protect ourselves against violence.«

Soma: »I liked most that they taught me that women and men are equal. I understand better what to do when I have problems in my family.«

Rawa: »I remember how they told us that you earn respect only by respecting others. I like this idea.«

Lawin: »They said that no one has the right to hurt me. And that I should not hurt others.«

Medya: »They told me that I can call them when I need help with my problems.«

Behar: »We learned a lot of new things. It was great.«

Human Rights Education Program for Schools
Human rights education

Children are the generation of the future. They will be in charge of tomorrow's society.

With our training in human rights we prepare children and adolescents for a free, equal and non-violent society.

Why human rights education in your school?
Our program supports teachers and students by
• working out non-violent ways of problem-solving
• fostering a climate of mutual respect
• decreasing conflicts in class
• improving communication between pupils
• improving contact between pupils and teachers
• enhancing concentration and learning.

The whole school class will be involved in the training and talk about conflicts and potential solutions together.

What do we aim at?

Our work is committed to strong and thoughtful children who treat each other with respect and know about their rights and duties.

Strong children
• strengthen self-confidence and personality
• create awareness of fundamental rights and ways to protect oneself
• build friendships and supporting networks

Respectful behaviour
• treat others with respect and tolerance
• support non-violent ways of problem-solving
• respect the environment

Equal Rights
• promote non-discrimination and equal opportunities for girls and boys

What do we offer?

Our team of experienced trainers offer
• seminars for school classes on the topics of human rights, tolerance and respect, problem-solving and non-violent communication
• anti-aggression trainings
• information events for teachers and parents
• referral to our rehabilitation and counseling programs for students or parents.

We use a child-friendly approach that helps students to actively participate and to adopt new perspectives.

We use modern presentation techniques and methods that help participants to concentrate.

The education program is carried out in a flexible, needs-based manner. We discuss the program with the responsible teachers beforehand. We evaluate the outcome in close cooperation with the school.

We are accredited with the Ministry of Education.

Are you worried about a child or adolescent?

Our experienced team offers free-of-charge
• counseling and treatment for children and families in difficult or violent situations
• counseling and seminars for teachers and social workers on how to deal with challenging situations in child care.
